HOLDEN HALL ENTERTAINS

The annual Holden Hall Dorm Party was held on Saturday night, December 6. In spite of College Boards and an all day ski trip, the boys really turned out to throw a good time for all of their guests. At 7:30 p. m. the girls and the faculty began to arrive. From then till 8:15, room inspection was held and it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that the boys were pretty fair housekeepers after all. From 8:15 till 9:00, entertainment was held in the pool-room where chairs were set up and a rough bedspread curtain was hung. The program opened after a brief introduction by Steve Yeaton, with the Holden Hall Dance Band. Kirk Newsom on the trombone, Fred Dallinger on the drums, Bob and Jim Weston on the sax and trumpet respectively, and Royden Ward on the clarinet comprised the talented quintet. The next thing on the agenda was an amusing skit, in which the boys did a takeoff on the T. V. adult Western, "Gunsmoke." Steve Karpowich was cast as Matt Dillon. Bob Bennett as Chester, John Todd as Doc Adams and Pete Swallow did a tremendous job as a Hatrack. Jim Linnell and Glen Whitehouse acted as swinging doors. Bruce Hunter played the role of Kitty. Kirk Newsom was the bartender, Norm Gardiner was the town dope. And lastly, but far from least, Bill Tinsman portrayed the traditional villain.

To wind up the program, two amusing pantomimes were presented; the first featured Ben White and Paul Calef, while George Elliot and Paul Collins were the participants in the second one.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the program, after which the students went downstairs for refreshments and a dance. The faculty remained in the living room where they were served cake and punch.

GIRLS VOLLEY

On Saturday morning, December 6, at 9:30 A. M. the freshman and sophomore volleyball teams assembled in the gym to take on the teams from Stephens High School. The Gould girls had two teams for each class altho' the Stephens girls had only one. Each Gould sophomore team played against the one Stephens team, winning one game and losing one. Then the winning Gould team played the Stephens girls resulting in a win for the Huskies.

The freshmen worked in the same manner, losing the important game in overtime.

Weston.

The highlight of the evening was the skits presented by the Pilgrim Fellowship and emceed by Don Christie. They chose as their theme, "A Day in American T. V.," depicting such famous shows as "Today," "The Price Is Right" and "Gunsmoke" in an off-beat manner. All of the students who participated in the skits are to be congratulated for doing such a fine job of entertaining.

To top off a wonderful evening, cider and doughnuts were served to a ravenous crowd, worn out from dancing and performing stunts. Tired, but happy, everyone headed for home already looking forward to next year's Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Xmas Season's Top Events

CHRISTMAS VESPERS

During the past few weeks, all the musical organizations of Gould Academy have been striving to perfect various pieces for the Christmas Vespers, which took place on December 14 in the West Parish Congregational Church. Skillfully decorated with evergreen boughs and candles by the Home Economics Department, the church was a beautiful sight to behold. Many people came to enjoy the songs and scripture reading which the students were glad they had a part in.

The program commenced as Cheryl Douglass began the organ prelude.

After this, all the other parts fell into place, and the program was under way.

The program was presented as follows:

CHRISTMAS FORMAL

Leaving the twinkling stars and crisp winter air outside, some fifty couples entered the William Bingham Gym on Dec. 13 to enjoy the spirited fun of the annual Christmas formal. At 8:30 Lou Lennan and his orchestra struck up one of their melodious tunes to which we were to dance the night away.

In the center of the floor a full evergreen tree decorated with multicolored lights served as a spoke around which the couples whirled—the girls in full pastel dresses which swish about them, and the boys in their best suits, a boutonniere decorating their lapels. The theme of the dance being the Skaters' Waltz, the walls were trimmed with appropriate decorations cut from colored paper. Streamers of red, light blue, and white formed a delicate roof over our heads.

The second item on the new programs made by Don Brown was the Grand March (executed with some difficulty around the tree!) after which followed sets of various dances until intermission. At this time refreshments of punch, cupcakes decorated in Christmas colors, and mints were served. With the food heartily eaten, the dancing continued until 11:30 stole upon us. The strains of the Goodnight Waltz, unwelcome to our ears, nevertheless were inevitable. The 1958 Christmas formal had come to a happy end.

Hostesses Sparkle at Xmas Tea

On the cold, wintry Sunday of December 7, the girls of Gehring Hall presented their annual Christmas Tea. Despite the cold outside, one could find warmth inside the dorm when greeted with a smile and an atmosphere of gaiety.

To the soft background music of cards, coffee, sherbet punch and a variety of delicate cookies, cakes and sandwiches were served, with the unique idea of a small Christmas tree and two red candles surrounded with boughs putting the final touch to the center of the inviting assortment on the table.

Amidst the seasonal decorations—the traditional Christmas tree, a silhouette of a sleigh and the unusual flowers from Hawaii—the faculty, trustees, and students enjoyed the festive occasion.

Under the general guidance of Mrs. Goggin, the house mother, and DonnaJeanne Bigos, Dorm Council President, the girls started planning for the event several weeks in advance.

Doing the honors as pourers were: DonnaJeanne Bigos, Mary Jasper, Nancy Buckminster, Sandra Cole and Beth Brown.

Heading the main committees were:

Invitations—Sue Appleton

Decorations—Sally Webber

Food—Sandra Cole and Freda Gammon

Serving—Marjorie Dallinger

Tea—Pat Philbrook

Clean-up—Carol Annett

But without the help of the other girls in one way or another, be it greeting the guest, or helping with the guest book or cleaning up, the Tea could never have been such a success.

We wish to express our many thanks to Ma and Chef, the kitchen staff, the Senior Home Economics class and all who helped to make the Christmas Tea a truly memorable occasion.

Sadie's First Formal

On November 23, the doors of the William Bingham Gymnasium were flung open to admit the couples to the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance. Sponsored by the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational Church, this dance was a welcome change from school work.

The idea of the Sadie Hawkins Dance, a girl invites boy affair, springs from the annual Sadie Hawkins Day, held in Dogpatch in Al Capp's famous comic strip, "Li'l Abner." On this day, any boy caught by a girl is obligated to marry her. As you can imagine, it often turns into quite a brawl!

To gain entrance to the dance, each boy had to wear a corsage made by the girl. Betsy Webster's creation for Doug Rice took first prize. The judges must have had a hard time selecting one from the many clever and unusual corsages on display.

The gym was gaily decorated with crepe paper streamers, silhouettes of couples ornamenting the walls, and an effigy of Sadie herself in the center of the dance floor.

Dances were interspersed with contests of various kinds. In one, the boys had to re-style the girl's hair, producing some very amusing results; this was won by Louise Kennedy and Jim

A Tribute

When a man has given thirty-four years of his life to one institution, as Clayton F. Fossett has given to Gould Academy, his departure can only be felt with a deep sense of loss, a withdrawal from the sum total of the manpower of the school of a richness of sympathy for every student whom he contacted, a weakening of the bonds of memory which tied "Clayt" to so many changes occurring here on the campus during his more than three decades of conscientious service.

"Clayt" played many parts at Gould; he had coached baseball and basketball in the early twenties; in these two sports he had seen his son Paul win his letter, a matter of quiet pride for his dad; he had changed over from instructing in manual training to the field of English, where his delight in the works of Kenneth Roberts, among others, influenced hundreds of students to become acquainted with the rugged historical tales of that adopted son of Maine; a few years ago, as coach of cross country, he saw his Gould team gallop across hill and dale to a State championship, a crowning laurel for his work in the athletic life of the school. As advisor to the "Herald," he saw many issues thru the press.

Those are the bare facts of his many years at Gould. But they merely hint at the spirit of this man whom at least two generations of Gould boys and girls grew to admire and to love. The quick clearing of the throat, the serious face which could lighten up with the sunniest of smiles, the deprecatory chuckle as he uttered a Fossettian witticism, and above all the earnestness with which he listened to every student's problems and the "lift" derived from his good counsel comprise a few of the traits which lie at the base of Clayt's character and personality. Ah, yes, and how the lightning could flash and the thunder roll if need be, as any "wise guy" could tell you, if he once imposed on Clayt's good nature!

And so we here at Gould, all of us, trustees, faculty, students, personnel, wish him and his wife Gertrude many, many years of pleasant living in his beloved Damariscotta, right next door to that king of raconteurs and prince of good fellows, Bob Clunie, still another Gould teacher whose memory will linger for a long, long time in our hearts. We have many fine buildings on solid foundations on our campus—but none on more sound foundation than that built into the lives of hundreds of young Americans by a man such as Clayt Fossett, teacher and friend.

Seniors Worth Knowing

MARY JASPER

One of the more outstanding individuals at Gould is a personality who is well liked for her quiet but friendly way. This gal happens to be no other but Mary Jasper.

Mary was born in Lewiston, Maine, and from there she moved to Arlington, Virginia, where she lived until she was six. She then returned to this fair state of Maine and has resided in Elliot ever since. While in Elliot, Mary was active in scouting and was awarded the Curved Bar for outstanding achievement. She was a member of the Youth Highway Council and an indispensable player on the Girls' Basketball team for two years prior to her arrival at Gould.

Here at Gould, Mary has been a member of the Blue and Gold editorial staff and is now in charge of the Alumni News. She is active in sports, and an outstanding participant in each of the ones she undertakes. Since she has been at Gould, she has been on all the Blue and Gold teams in the particular sports which interest her. These sports include hockey, volleyball, basketball, and softball. Mary is also quite prominent in the musical activities at school being in the Varsity Glee Club and the Senior Girls Choir. This year she is secretary of the Student Council. She has been a member of the Outing Club and French Club for two years, and now holds the position of vice-president in the French Club. In dorm life, Mary is the secretary of the Dorm Council.

Scholastically, Mary is an above average student and has been on the honor roll every ranking period since her arrival.

One may find Mary diligently practicing her strokes on the tennis court or leisurely reading a good book. Her other interests include swimming and skating in addition to the other sports mentioned above. Mary is active in the church and is a member of the Congregational Church Choir. She also has membership in the Rainbow Girls, which she belonged to while in Elliot.

In the future, Mary hopes to go to Bates, although the field in which she will major is as yet undecided. With her winning way and unmistakable ability in leadership, Mary will undoubtedly become a success in the years to come.

BOWLING

This year, due to the influence of Miss Duffy, more than thirty girls participate in bowling. Every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday their giggles and squeals can be heard as they monopolize the Central Bowling Alleys. Although a strike isn't common, the following people managed to score in the vicinity of ninety: Claire Berry, Melvena Learned, Jean Waterhouse, Pam Young, Donna Smith, Mary Ann Royal, Carolyn Bean, Judy Payson, Ruth Stevens and Joan Smith.

Even though no freshmen and many upper classmen didn't make the list, they are improving with practice and enjoy rolling those balls down the gutter.

LINWOOD SMALL

Linwood is certainly a senior worth knowing. He deserves this title as he has done many things for the school as well as the senior class.

Born and brought up in Raymond, Maine, Linwood has been one of the class's most active and well liked members. Along with being on the honor roll numerous times, he is now a member of the National Honor Society, which is certainly something to be proud of.

He is very active in school organizations; this year he is vice-president of the Student Council, and has been a member for two years. Serving as co-editor of the Blue and Gold this year he has turned out some fine newspapers which are deserving credit for his hard work. He is also a member of the French Club and the Outing Club.

Being in the band and various glee clubs, he has shown another desirable trait, his musical ability. Because of this he has won a place in the select Chapman Club.

Linwood's outstanding scholastic ability was brought to the attention of all last year when he placed second in Maine in the National French Examination. For this he won a medal from the French government. Again this year he won another honor in placing near the top of the list in the National Merit Scholarship Test taken last year.

Proving that he isn't just a "brain" Linwood has been a member of the cross-country and baseball teams for four years. For his skill in baseball he was elected captain of the 1959 team. Skiing is also another favorite which he enjoys in his free time.

As for college plans Linwood would like to be seen either on the Wesleyan or Williams campus next year. Planning to study electronic engineering, he will certainly be most likely to succeed.

Book & Record Reviews

BOOK REVIEW

Richard Wright has but one nail to pound, and in his new book, he hammers incessantly. The shameful plight of the Negro in a white man's world is the object of Mr. Wright's anger in his book, "The Long Dream," for it is a subject he knows well, as he himself is colored.

The author writes subtly of the harsh, cruel life of a Mississippi lad known as "Fishbelly." "Fishbelly" despises his father for crawling to white men and then growing rich from these illicit practices with these same men. "Fish" sees that his father is using the whites for his own evil, and in the same way they are using him.

Wright hits again and again at the brutality, which causes the Negro to hate and fear the whites. He does this with such forcefulness, displays such crudeness and anger that even the reader who attempts to take the book lightly will find that the horrible situation of the American Negro is a dreadfully serious one.

Although critics say that Mr. Wright has exaggerated the facts, it is generally felt that this book should be an aid in clearing up a small part of the hatred shown the colored people of the United States.

FORMER BLUE AND GOLD STUDENT WINS HIGH HONORS

Robert Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Foster, Gould '46, Bates A. B. '60, Columbia School of Journalism, '62, now city editor of the Worcester, Mass., Telegram, has just received notification that he has been chosen as one of twenty-seven editors from all over the United States to attend an all-expense-paid seminar for city editors to be held at Columbia University under the auspices of the American Press Institute, from Dec. 8 to Dec. 10.

Bob was an outstanding student while at Gould, editor of the BLUE AND GOLD, stage manager of the senior play, principal in the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta in his senior year, and always keenly interested in journalism. After a two-year hitch in the Navy, he started on his newspaper career with the Worcester paper, where he has steadily "climbed the ladder" to his present position, where for the last months a strike among certain factors of the employees has made his job difficult.

Nominations for admission to the American Press Institute's seminars, held yearly at Columbia, are made by the papers' publishers, and cover every department of a newspaper's office and field work, including circulation, advertising, women's page editors, managing editors, management and costs. All states and two Canadian provinces are represented this year, and cities and towns range in size from those under 50,000 circulation to the metropolitan dailies with their hundreds of thousands, specifically from under 5,000 to over 2,000,000. In order to insure full participation by all members, each seminar in each group is limited to 27 members.

Thus it is interesting to have such a signal honor bestowed on this paper's former editor, whose first steps were taken here and later at Bates, where he was also editor of the college weekly, the Bates Student. Congratulations, Bob Foster!

Ray Coniff's new album "Gawful Nice" has been found to provide excellent listening during the chilly days of November.

Cozy Cole has done it again with his new recording of "Turvy."

Teens are also listening to "Walking Along" by the Diamonds, "Chipmunks' Song" by David Seville, "One Night" by Elvis Presley, and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" by the Platters.

In the jazz field two up and coming albums are "Ellington Uptown" by Duke Ellington and "Jazz Goes to College" by Dave Brubeck.

Although "Jingle Bell Rock" was popular last year around Christmas time, to our surprise it has come back again as another Christmas time hit.

JUNIOR

Congratulations to the few happy juniors, who made the two honor rolls! We guess some of them weren't stunned by the blow of certain subjects!

Congratulations are also to be extended to Doug Rice and Ed Bernier, on whom has been bestowed the honor and responsibility as captains of next year's football and cross-country teams respectively. Congrats, boys!!

Come on, junior girls! Let's get out there and support your class teams with a little spirit!

Well, it looks as though all the juniors have returned from a happy Thanksgiving vacation. Numerous parties were enjoyed by all, and, we guess, the snow was a little bad in places wasn't it, Pete? Or was it just the car?

Basketball season has finally come, and it looks as if the juniors will be contributing several handsome young leads to this much-loved sport. Included on the list are the following: Steve Watson, Doug Rice, Bill Kinsman, Dave Stowell, Pete Wheeler, and Ben White.

BARKER MOUNTAIN GETS READY

There is a rumor circulating that Barker Mt. is going to be converted into a large ski resort only five miles from the town of Bethel. Well, it's one hundred per cent true. Yes, Barker Mt., elevation 2502 feet, is the site of the new ski development in Maine with the longest T-bar in the state.

Richard York was the only sophomore to get his letter in football. Good work, Richard!! Jeff Newsome, Fred Lincoln, and Rupert Grover received their letters in cross country.

We sincerely hope that everyone had an enjoyable Thanksgiving and that no one ate too much.

All freshmen are participating in volleyball, bowling, skiing, and skating. Everyone is certain to benefit from these sports. The sign-up sheets are still up for skating and skiing, so why not add your name to that list right now?

Congratulations to the boys who made the J. V. Basketball Squad. They are: Dave Ayers, Jim Weston, Dave Hawkes, Owen Melville, Wayne Perry, Emerson Merrill, Gary Hill, and Steve Groves.

time, a group of Gould students among a great number of the town's people arrived at the ski slope on Veterans' Day and laboriously, yet with much frolic, cleared away and burned brush on the main slope as perceived by looking at the fatigued, warriors as they returned from the day's task.

It is said that the development, when completed in 1960, will offer a skiing challenge for each individual: the expert, the intermediate, the novice, and will bring forth a winter playground for family fun.

Of course there will be a good two lane road, graded and finished, which will lead into a most ample parking area at the base of the main slope. A ski lodge with all the modern facilities will be erected to create a sanctuary for all the snow bunnies and sufferers of extreme cases of cold feet.

Shares may be bought in the enterprise, and for them one may obtain a life time pass or one according to the value of the shares bought. This will create an opportunity for one who has money to invest in a sure thing. Not only will he retain a free ski ticket but will be earning money as he goes.

This, we hope, will give rise to new and desirable recreation for the Gould students, present, past, and future. Happy Skiing!

THE EXCHANGE ECHO

I agree with Station E. L. H. S. (Edward Little High School) that the "Teen Commandments" are "just the thing for young people all over America." They are good suggestions and should be followed.

I'm glad The Student Voice used one of our editorials for their recent issue. It contained an excellent message.

The shot of Pete Stevens gaining yardage in the recent issue of the Cushing Breeze was nicely done. Congrats to the camera bug!

"People are the real resource in America, and the most precious of these is our youth. There is the responsibility of carrying on this tradition of leadership." Quoted from an article entitled "Our Most Precious Resource" which was written by the principal of Poultney High School.

The following from The Sentinel, Spaulding High School:

Your Worth?

Not, how did he do,
But how did he live?
Not, what did he gain,
But, what did he give?
Not, what was his station,
But, had he a heart?
And how did he play
His God-given part?
These are the units
To measure the worth
Of a man, as a man,
Regardless of birth.

A suggestion: why not try wearing purple leotards with a pink formal!

By the way, quite a trip you students from Spaulding High took to Boston.

Thanks to all the Rumford boys who cheered with us at the football game against Mexico on October 25.

A word about ordering pictures. When you sign up for prints to be made by the Camera Club of the various school activities, please bring your money promptly when you find that they are on sale. It is very inconvenient for the sellers and the club to have to wait for an indefinite length of time.

F. H. A.

A group of F. H. A. girls attended the district convention held at Stephens High School in Rumford on November 22. Evelyn Winslow was the presiding chairman and Oldie Brown was elected as next year's chairman. Also, a group of Gould girls put on a skit entitled, "The F. H. A. Girl with a Purpose."

On Friday, December 5, the F. H. A. held an international supper to initiate the new members. The supper, put on by the sophomore girls, featured foods from all lands. An initiation ceremony followed the supper.

ALUMNI COLUMN

The past three weeks have been busy ones at the various college campuses as well as here at Gould; because of this, there is only a small amount of news from the alumni quarter this time. However, after the Christmas holidays we hope to be swamped with mail!

Ronnie Willard, Gould '57, is majoring in math and science at William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Virginia.

Fred Feltler, Gould '57, is now a sophomore at Maryville College in Tennessee; Fred is majoring in education.

Merrily Appleton, also Gould '57, after attending Colby Junior College for a year, is now majoring in math at the University of New Hampshire. Although she finds a few of her subjects a little difficult, she is happy and is doing very well.

Richard Grover, Gould '58, is attending Northeastern University and is majoring in civil engineering. Richard was recently chosen as one of the representatives to his class governing body.

Mrs. Dianne Watson Brockett, Gould '55, is now living in North Haven, Connecticut, after attending the University of Connecticut. On October 13, 1958, the Brockett family was blessed with a new arrival; the "new arrival's" name is Barbara Lynn.

Dave Lord, Gould '66, from Kezar Falls, is to be congratulated on his recent engagement to Martha Dodge of Exeter, New Hampshire; both Martha and Dave are seniors at the University of New Hampshire this year.

We would like to take this opportunity to wish all of Gould's alumni a very merry Christmas and a happy new year—may your future years hold even more happiness in store!

WHAT DOES A SWEATER REPRESENT?

Recently in a morning assembly Al Sumner, this year's football captain, received his varsity sweater. The sweater means a lot to Al and he truly deserves it. You may ask what has he done to receive this honor? What are the requirements? I shall try to the best of my ability to answer the above questions and add a little more information to fully explain the subject.

First of all, I shall work from the ground floor up. The athletic council here at Gould consists of 10 members. This organization heads up all athletics here at Gould. The members this year are as follows:

Mr. Ireland—Headmaster
Mr. Myers—Financial
Mr. Anderson—Director of Athletics

Mr. Davis—Trustee
Mr. Carter—Alumni
Mr. Roderick—Boys' Physical Education
Miss Duffy—Girls' Physical Education
Mr. Bowhay—Coach
Judy Watson—President
Student Council

Ruth Willard—President
Girls' Athletic Association
This organization sets forth most decisions on athletics.

Gould offers six Varsity Sports for boys; they are as follows: football, cross country, basketball, skiing, track, and baseball. A boy may earn 3 letters per year. The captain of a team receives 2 letters in that sport. Certain rigid requirements are set down in each sport, making it quite hard to earn a letter. In most high schools upon earning your varsity letter in your junior or senior year you receive your sweater. But here at Gould an athlete must earn 6 letters in a row or 7 letters in all, thus giving the sweater added significance.

Al Sumner has earned thus far 8 letters in 3 and a half years. He has earned 5 letters in football, 2 in baseball and 1 in basketball. He has played 4 football positions. This is truly an accomplishment and we all congratulate Al for the yeoman job he has done in athletics at Gould Academy. Good luck to all those now seeking their sweaters!

BRIDGTON NIPS GOULD

Gould Academy's basketball team made its 1958 debut on the Field House floor Tuesday, December 9. Although they fought in a losing cause, the score being 51-43, they played a very good game against a well-balanced Bridgton team. Each quarter was nip and tuck all the way. The first quarter saw little scoring and the buzzer ending the period showed Gould to be ahead 10-7. Bridgton outscored the Huskies in the second quarter and the end of the half showed our boys to be trailing by a basket, 25-23. During the third quarter it seemed to be each team matching one another basket for basket. Bridgton was on top, 35-31, at the end of this period. The fourth quarter proved to be fast and furious, and it was anybody's ball game right up to the last couple of minutes. Bridgton, however, broke through the Husky defense and the final score was 51-43 in favor of the opponents.

John Cole was high scorer for Gould with 13 points.

SKIING PROSPECTS

It is once again the season to break out the skiing apparatus and head for the high ground. This year, as every year at this time, the Gould prospects for skiing start training for a busy schedule. This year's co-captains are Sam Appleton and Pete Karpowich. Other returning lettermen are as follows: Fred Dallinger, Fred Lincoln, Bill Call, and Don Angevine.

Kirk Newsom and Steve Karpowich are the only returning seniors who do not hold a letter.

Mr. Kailey's ski team is strengthened by the addition of quite a few newcomers. They are as follows: Pete Swallow, Jeff Hutchins, Dwight Lord, Guy Burnham, Nelson Smith, David Favreau, Pete Mendall, George Elliot, Pete Davis, George Morse, Pete Anderson, Steve Saunders, Harry Brown, John Latti, Jeff Newsom, and Chris Angevine.

Coach Kailey said that this will be a building year in which new talents will be developed. He said that the Nordic squad should be improved over last year's, while the Alpine (down hill and slalom) squad is fair. Two good prospects in this field can be seen in Sam Appleton and Pete Swallow, but depth is lacking. It will be up to the newcomers to pick up the slack.

Mr. Kailey went on to say that much conditioning has been done, and early snow has helped immensely in developing the squad. There is still much to be accomplished, but the squad seems eager. Coach Kailey and Assistant Coach Auger anticipate a pretty well balanced team.

BASKETBALL PROSPECTS

On Nov. 3, about fifty eager boys met the call for basketball with rabid enthusiasm. In the first week, Coach Berry put the boys through the paces, selecting his varsity and cutting some to J.V. ball.

This year's varsity is all new. Starting at the top, we have a new coach, Mr. Berry. The squad itself has but one letterman, Al Sumner. The rest of the squad comes from the J.V. team of last year or are transfers. Inexperience is the key and most baffling word to the team this year.

Mr. Bowhay is the J.V. coach. His team is also new; however, a good season is expected.

OUTSTANDING GIRLS IN SPORTS

We open this first edition of Outstanding Girls in Sports with a fine selection of athletic females. The program, under the auspices of Miss Alice Duffy, has something that is suited to everyone's taste. Many exciting sports are available for participation in this year such as hockey, bowling, archery, tennis, and volleyball.

Representing the seniors is the vivacious Janie Greig. Jane has shown her skill and prowess in many sports, among which are volleyball, basketball, and hockey. In whatever kind of game she is playing, she is always in the top of the competition. Jane is also a very enthusiastic cheer leader always first in cheering our team on to victory. She displays her variable talents on the A. A. council as a senior class officer and in many other worthwhile activities. The best of luck to Janie!

Next on the list, we find a sparky blond by the name of Susan Saunders. Sue has contributed much in the sports department, being active in basketball, volleyball, on the hockey team, and helping to win the tennis matches against Kents Hill. Sue is on the student council, A. A. council, and she is a very spirited cheerleader, adding vitality to the squad. Keep up the good work, Sue!

That tall athletic looking girl who is always making goals in hockey is the choice for the sophomore class. She is none other than Lorenda Freeman! So far this year, Lorenda has actively shown her talents in archery, tennis, bowling, and hockey, on which she made the J. V. team.

As soon as the season arrives, she will be spotted throwing the basketball through the hoop; this is one of Lorenda's favorite sports. She is also on the A. A. Council. We'll be seeing Lorenda around next year helping to show that girls aren't as lazy as the boys think. Congratulations, Lorenda!

Last, but not least, we have the freshman choice, Beth Brown. This is Beth's first year at Gould, and she has already proved her fine abilities in hockey, tennis, volleyball, archery and bowling. Beth is a very good prospect for the tennis team next season, but we're sure there will be some decision as to whether the hockey or the tennis will come first. Beth has shown some of the girls her skill

BEHIND THE LOCKER DOOR

When the gym door is first opened, the onslaught of screams, "Slide Out!" and the loud thud of girls landing gracefully on the floor after a beautifully executed spike, are very audible. This, nevertheless, is volleyball in its prime.

Looking straight ahead, after entrance by the girls' door, a glass enclosed bulletin board is visible. Hanging on the wall next to Miss Duffy's shower, there is, on this bulletin board, a list of those few girls getting "A" and the many getting "D" in posture. The girls in school were rated by the women of the faculty over a period of a few weeks, and these are the striking results.

Taking a few paces to the right, always being careful not to slip on the water from snowy feet, the class representatives from the Girls' A. A. can usually be found posting the points in the first term sports.

After school, the cheerleaders, both varsity and junior varsity, produce a loud "T-B-A-M" from the upstairs track or behind the stage. Basketball's around the corner!

At this time of year the conversation of the girls in the locker room turns to the Christmas Formal, vacation, and the co-ed volleyball game. If you were standing at the door listening, you'd probably hear something like this:

"What color formal did you say you were wearing?"

"Boy, my arm's killing me from that shot. Miss Duffy would make us do a lot of exercises today!"

"I just stood there with my mouth hanging open when Bob Weston jumped so high to get that ball!"

"If Mr. — gives us any home work over vacation, I'll scream. That's not fair."

"Somebody borrowed my dirty socks and didn't put them back. They'd better wash them first!"

"So what if you didn't get him a flower, let him wear the one you saved from last year!"

with a basketball, and she can really get around on that floor, sinking baskets before anyone can guard her. She has three more years ahead to display her talents, and we'll be watching!
